In re:

LEHMAN BROTHERS INC.,

Case No. 08-01420 (JMP) SIPA

Debtor.

OBJECTION TO TRUSTEE'S DETERMINATION OF CLAIM

The Bank of Korea (the "Customer"), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby submits this objection (the "Objection") to the Notice of Trustee's Determination of Claim dated October 2, 2009 with respect to the claim submitted by the Customer (the "Determination Notice"), and respectfully represents and sets forth as follows:

- 1. Customer objects to the Trustee's denial of Customer's proof of claim (Claim Number 800003054) (the "Claim", attached hereto as Exhibit A), relating to transactions that occurred prior to September 19, 2008 (the "Commencement Date").
- 2. The Claim relates to the forward purchase of certain mortgage-backed securities on a "to be announced" or TBA basis (a "TBA").
- 3. In a TBA trade, the seller and buyer agree, at the time of the trade, to the following:

the type of security to be purchased, which will usually be a certain type of asset backed security collateralized by pass through mortgages guaranteed by the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac"), or the Government National Mortgage Association ("Ginnie Mae");

the coupon or interest rate;

the face value (the total dollar amount of mortgage-backed securities to be acquired;

the price; and

the settlement date, which is typically later than three business days after the trade date.

- 4. The specific mortgages that will be pooled to provide the collateral underlying the purchased mortgage-backed securities, however, will generally not be known until 48 hours before the settlement date. In other words, the specific mortgages that make up the collateral pool are not known, at trade date but rather are "to be announced."
- 5. By any measure, the TBA market is substantial and has been characterized as "the most liquid, and consequently most important, secondary market for mortgage loans in the world." Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association, General Description of the TBA MBS Market, available at http://www.sifma.org/capital_markets/TBA-MBS.shtml. In the year 2007 for example, the average daily trading volume of agency, that is Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and Ginnie Mae, mortgage-backed securities was $320.1 billion,² with much of this volume resulting from TBA trades. See generally Frank J. Fabozzi, The Handbook of Mortgage-Backed Securities (6th ed., 2005).

NET AMOUNT OWING TO CUSTOMER: $27,953.12

6. The Customer's Claim relates to its purchase from the Debtor ("LBI") of pass through mortgage securities (the "Securities") on a to be announced basis, as follows:

CUSIP number 02R0506A4, issued by Freddie Mac, for settlement on October 14, 2008;

CUSIP number 01F0606A8, issued by Fannie Mae, for settlement on October 14, 2008; and CUSIP number 02R0606A9, issued by Freddie Mac, for settlement on October 14, 2008.

- TBA trades through which it purchased the Securities from LBI as dealer on the following dates: September 4 and September 5, 2008 (the "Purchase Transactions"). The Securities had face amounts of $5,800,000 for CUSIP number 02R0506A4, $10,000,000 for CUSIP number 01F0606A8, and $4,850,000 for CUSIP number 02R0606A9, and were purchased at prices of $5,615,125.00, $10,214,062.50, and $4,992,468.75 respectively. Attached to the Claim are trade confirmations transmitted by Depository Trust Company on behalf of LBI that evidence the Purchase Transactions between LBI and Customer's investment adviser. Also, attached to the Claim are screen shots that were printed by Customer's adviser and trade tickets from the adviser's internal records that reflect trade information and the allocation of the Purchase Transactions among the accounts of the adviser's clients, including the Customer, whose account is designated as account number 2260W.
- 8. Acting again through its investment adviser, the Customer entered into a TBA trade through which it sold the Securities with CUSIP number 02R0606A9 to LBI as dealer on September 18, 2008, at a price of $4,987,921.87 (the "Sale Transaction"). Attached to the Claim is a trade confirmation transmitted by DTC on behalf of LBI that evidences the Sale Transaction between LBI and Customer. Also, attached to the Claim is a screen shot that was printed by Customer's adviser and a trade ticket from the internal records that reflects trade information and the allocation of the Sale Transaction among the adviser's clients, including the Customer. As with the Purchase Transactions, the adviser's allocations to the Customer under the Sale Transaction are represented by account number 2260W. LBI acted as a dealer in the Purchase Transactions and Sale Transaction.

9. Acting again through its investment adviser, on September 26, 2008 the Customer terminated its Purchase Transactions with respect to the Securities with CUSIP numbers 02R0506A4 and 01F0606A8 and entered into TBA trades through which it purchased the same Securities from Goldman Sachs & Co. (USA) and Citigroup Global Markets Inc. respectively (the "Replacement Transactions"). The Replacement Transactions had face values equal to the relevant Purchase Transactions and net prices of $5,685,812.50 and $10,171,875.00 respectively. Attached to the Claim are trade confirmations transmitted by Depository Trust Company on behalf of Goldman Sachs & Co. (USA) and Citigroup Global Markets Inc. that evidence the Replacement Transactions between Goldman Sachs & Co. (USA), Citigroup Global Markets Inc. and Customer's investment adviser. Also, attached to the Claim are screen shots that were printed by Customer's adviser and trade tickets from the adviser's internal records that reflect trade information and the allocation of the Replacement Transactions among the accounts of the adviser's clients, including the Customer. As with the Purchase Transactions, the adviser's allocations to the Customer under the Replacement Transactions are represented by account number 2260W.

- As a result of the Sales Transaction and the resulting offsetting purchase and sale of the Securities with CUSIP number 02R0606A9, the Customer closed out its position in the Securities at a loss of $4,546.88. This amount is the difference between the amount owed by Customer to LBI with respect to the Customer's purchase of the Securities from LBI ($4,992,468.75), and the amount owed by LBI with respect to LBI's re-purchase of the Securities from LBI ($4,987,921.87). As a result of the Replacement Transactions and the resulting offsetting purchases of the Securities with CUSIP numbers 02R0506A4 and 01F0606A8, the Customer replaced its position in the Securities at a loss of $70,687.50 and a gain of $42,187.50 respectively. The Sale Transaction and the Replacement Transactions resulted in a net payable from LBI to the Customer of $23,953.12 (the "Claimed Amount"). This amount is the sum of the amounts owed by LBI to the Customer with respect to the Sale Transaction and the Replacement Transactions. The Claimed Amount was outstanding as of the Commencement Date and continues to be outstanding.
- 11. Consistent with the bar date notice filed by the Trustee in this SIPA proceeding, the Customer submitted the Claim in the amount of $23,953.12 on January 30, 2009.
- 12. Among other things, the Claim reserved the Customer's right to interest on the amount of its claim on and after the Commencement Date until paid in full and its contingent unliquidated claims against LBI (i.e., Customer's expenses and other costs resulting from LBI's failure to complete the transactions in question, that are not presently ascertainable).
- 13. On October 2, 2009, the Trustee sent the Determination Notice denying the Customer's Claim for customer treatment pursuant to the Securities Investors Protection Act of 1970, as amended ("SIPA"), and noting that the Customer's Claim was not "eligible to share from the fund of customer property or SIPA cash advances." Attached hereto as Exhibit B is a copy of the Determination Notice.

14. The Customer objects to the above determination and the denial of its Claim as a customer claim and, accordingly, is timely filing this objection thereto.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

- 15. SIPA provides for customer status to the extent a particular claim meets the requirements of Section 78lll(2) of the Act. For purposes of SIPA, a claimant is eligible to share in the fund of customer property to the extent that its claim is defined as that of a "customer."
- 16. Section 78lll(2) of SIPA defines the term "customer" to include "any person (including any person with whom the debtor deals as principal or agent) who has a claim on account of securities received, acquired, or held by the debtor in the ordinary course of its business as a broker or dealer from or for the securities account of such person for safekeeping, with a view to sale, to cover consummated sales, pursuant to purchases, as collateral, security, or for purposes of effecting transfer." 15 U.S.C. § 78lll(2). Moreover, Section 78lll(2) specifies that "[t]he term 'customer' includes any person who has a claim against the debtor arising out of sales or conversions of such securities, . . ."
- A plain reading of the statute makes clear that the Securities underlying the Customer's Claim are securities within the meaning of Section 78lll(14) of SIPA. See In re SSIW Corp., 7 B.R. 735, 737 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1980) (holding that GNMA pass-through securities "clearly fall with the definition of "securities" in the [Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978] since they partake of the essential ingredients of a note, bond or debenture.") See also Abrams v. Oppenheimer Gov't Sec., Inc., 737 F.2d 582, 586-87 (7th Cir. 1984) (noting that "GNMA certificates are considered securities . . . pursuant to Section 2(1) of the 1933 Act [the Securities Exchange Act of 1933] and Section 3(a)(10) of the 1934 Act [the Securities Exchange Act of 1934], being a note . . . bond, [or] debenture. . . .")

- Moreover, there is nothing under the SIPA definition of "security" that would suggest any reason these instruments would not be treated as securities under SIPA. The term "security" is defined broadly at Section 78lll(14) of SIPA to mean "any note, stock, treasury stock, bond, debenture, evidence of indebtedness, any collateral trust certificate, preorganization certificate or subscription, transferable share, . . . , certificate of deposit, certificate of deposit for a security, or any security future as that term is defined in section 78c(a)(55)(A) of this title, . . . , any put, call, straddle, option, or privilege on any security, or group or index of securities (including any interest therein or based on the value thereof), . . . any certificate of interest or participation in, temporary or interim certificate for, receipt for, guarantee of, or warrant or right to subscribe to or purchase or sell any of the foregoing, and any other instrument commonly known as a security." 11 U.S.C. § 78lll(14).
- 19. Further, there is no doubt that LBI was acting in the "ordinary course of its business" as a "broker or dealer" from or for the "securities account" of the Customer.
- 20. Thus, while the SIPC trustee did not provide a rationale for his finding that the Claim was not eligible for customer protection, the Determination Notice was presumably based on the Trustee's legal conclusion that assets underlying the Claim were not "received, acquired or held" for the Customer within the meaning of Section 78lll(2).
- 21. Such a reading of the definition of customer is inconsistent with the statute, with the intent of Congress, with prior case law, and with prior positions of SIPC.
- As the Second Circuit has observed, in the legislative history of SIPA the term "investors' is used synonymously with 'customers,' indicating that, in the eyes of Congress, the Act would protect capital markets by instilling confidence in securities traders." SIPC v. Morgan, Kennedy & Co., 533 F.2d 1314, 1317 (2d Cir. 1976). The purpose of SIPA is "protection for investors if the broker-dealer with whom they are doing business encounters financial troubles" H.R. Rep. No. 91-1613, at 1 (1970); see also S. Rep. No. 91-1218, at 4 (1970). Similarly, as noted by the Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York, the "sole legislative statement addressed" to the definition of "customer" in the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978³ "reveals that such descriptive term comprehends 'anybody that interacts with the debtor in a capacity that concerns securities transactions." SSIW Corp., at 738. See also, Cohen v. Army Moral Support Fund (In re Bevill, Bresler & Schulman Asset Mgmt. Corp.), 67 B.R. 557, 602 (D.N.J. 1986) ("SIPA was intended to protect investors who entered an established securities market by means of the services provided by a broker-dealer and who subsequently incurred losses as a result of the broker-dealer's failure." (citing H.R. Rep. No. 91-1613, (1970), as reprinted in, 3 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5255 (1970)).

- 23. Against this background, the intent of Congress in defining "customer" as a person as to whom assets are "received, acquired, or held" was not to limit customers by excluding parties with unsettled trades, but merely to describe the condition that would cause an investor, interacting with a broker-dealer as such, to lose money or investments because of the insolvency of the broker-dealer. The Customer is clearly an investor in such a position.
- 24. The Customer made an investment in securities through LBI as a dealer, which investment was reflected on LBI's books and records, as is plainly indicated by the trade confirmation transmitted by Depository Trust Company on behalf of LBI and attached to the Claim, which evidences this transaction between LBI and Customer's investment adviser. The Customer will lose the value of its investment if the Claim is not respected as a customer claim.

- As courts have typically framed the issue, a "customer" is someone who has "entrusted" securities or cash with the debtor in connection with securities transactions and loses such property due to the debtor's insolvency. See, e.g., SIPC v. Executive Sec. Corp., 556 F.2d 98, 99 (2d Cir. 1977). Here the Customer has entrusted its investments in securities to LBI because it transacted with LBI as a dealer to access the securities market and acquire its interest in the Securities and was dependent on the solvency of LBI to receive the benefit of its securities transactions. The Customer's securities investment was an asset of value that the Customer entrusted to LBI and which was, in fact, under the control of LBI, as is demonstrated by the fact that the Customer was able to direct LBI to close out the investment by entering into an offsetting TBA trade to sell the Securities, thereby converting the securities position on LBI's books to a cash position.
- 26. Nor was the Customer a mere "creditor" of LBI. Like any purchase of securities, the Securities purchased by Customer exposed the Customer to possible gain or loss from market movements in the purchased Securities, which reflected the larger fixed income credit markets and did not, as would be the case with a note, bond or other security issued by LBI, rise or fall in value based upon the creditworthiness of LBI. In the final analysis, Customer's position at LBI with respect to the Securities cannot be distinguished from that of any other customer whose securities were held in an account at LBI.
- 27. Both precedent and prior SIPC positions indicate that a claimant may be a "customer" with respect to unsettled positions, even where the customer has not delivered any cash or securities to the broker-dealer. For example, in In re Adler Coleman Clearing Corp., 211 B.R. 486 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1997), SIPC and the court took the view that a "RVP/DVP" customer was a "customer" for purposes of SIPA. In that case, the debtor, Adler, cleared and settled trades for RCM, an investment adviser with discretionary authority to execute securities transactions with Adler on behalf of its clients. All of RCM's security transactions cleared and settled through Adler were RVP/DVP, meaning that on settlement, RCM and Adler would arrange for the cash or securities obtained by Adler to be transferred to RCM's bank custodian versus payment (on a purchase) or delivery of the relevant securities (on a sale) by RCM through the bank custodian. RCM did not otherwise deliver any assets to Adler. Prior to the filing date, RCM purchased certain shares on behalf of its customers. The scheduled settlement date for those purchases was four days after the filing date. The SIPC trustee deemed RCM to be a customer of Adler with a net equity claim rather than open securities contracts. The court agreed with this proposition without argument, stating flatly that "RCM, on behalf of its customers, was Adler Coleman's customer" and that "upon commencement of the SIPA liquidation proceeding, RCM no longer had a right to the securities in its account, but rather RCM had a claim against a fund of customer property, including the securities in its accounts, to be distributed to customers based on their respective net equity." Id. at 496. See also In re Investors Ctr., Inc., 129 B.R. 339, 350-51 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 1991) (claimants treated as customers where market maker purported to execute trades for customer accounts that had been moved to another broker-dealer).

The courts have consistently held that a claimant's SIPA rights with respect to trades executed or cleared by a broker-dealer are fixed on trade date rather than settlement date. See, e.g., Murray v. McGraw (In re Bell & Beckwith), 821 F.2d 333 (6th Cir. 1987); SIPC v. Morgan, Kennedy & Co., No. 73 CV 1057, 1977 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17382 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 14, 1977); In re: Investors Center Inc., 129 B.R. 339 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 1991); SEC v. Aberdeen Sec. Co., Inc., 480 F.2d 1121 (3d Cir. 1973). As stated by the court in Bell & Beckwith, "the concern of the drafters [of SIPA] was in part to assure customers that their rights in the debtor's estate would be fixed and easily discoverable as of the filing date." 821 F.2d at 338. Moreover, the court reasoned, the customer protection function of SIPA dictates that trades ordered before the filing date be either completed or closed-out in order to preserve, to the extent possible, the benefit of the bargains made.

- Indeed, because customer positions are fungible and held in bulk in accordance with Rule 15c3-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, it would be difficult or impossible to determine where the security in question is actually delivered to the broker-dealer and therefore can safely be said to have been "received, acquired, or held" by the broker-dealer. In light of how positions are traded and handled, any such distinction is largely, if not entirely, without substance. Moreover, as proceeds of the Sale Transaction would be a free credit in Customer's account at LBI, in accordance with Rule 15c3-3, LBI should have treated this amount as a credit to LBI's special reserve bank account for the exclusive benefit of its customers. This would have the effect of increasing the amount deposited in such reserve formula, which amounts are held for the protection of customers and available to the SIPC Trustee for customer claims under SIPA.
- 30. Treating the Customer as a customer is also consistent with the expectations of the parties. There was no notice provided in the documentation that was supplied to the Customer, or anywhere else in the standard documentation related to TBAs, that informed Customer that it would not be a "customer" for purposes of SIPA or otherwise. This stands in marked contrast to other markets, such as the repurchase market and securities lending, where the industry standard master agreements provide that the counterparty is not a "customer" for purposes of SIPA—and in fact the Securities and Exchange Commission requires such disclosure. It is difficult to see why the Securities and Exchange Commission would not require a similar warning to investors buying TBAs that they were not "customers" under SIPA, if that were in fact the case.

31. For all of these reasons, LBI should be deemed to have "received, acquired, or held" Customer's position in the Securities for purposes of Section 78lll(2) of SIPA. Accordingly, the Claim should be allowed as a customer claim for purposes of SIPA.

NO PRIOR RELIEF

32. The relief requested by the Customer in this Objection has not been sought previously in this or any other court.

RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

33. The Customer reserves all rights with respect to the claims asserted herein. The Customer further reserves all rights to file an amended objection and/or reply.

Giddens (the "Trustee") in his capacity, and pursuant to his appointment in connection with the proceeding described in the immediately following paragraph, as the trustee for the liquidation of the business of Lehman Brothers Inc. ("LBI").

As described on the Customer Claim Form to which this Annex relates and as set forth in further detail herein, Customer is the holder of claims (the "Claims") against LBI that arose prior to the issuance on September 19, 2008 of an order (the "Order") by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York granting the application of the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC") for issuance of a protective decree adjudicating that the customers of LBI are in need of the protection afforded by the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, as amended ("SIPA"). The liquidation has been referred to and is now being administered under the auspices of United States Bankruptcy Judge James M. Peck.

2. Secured Claim

The Claims of the Customer against LBI for amounts due and owing as of the Order are unsecured claims to the extent of the deficiency following the exercise by Customer of the rights of setoff that they may have against LBI. By filing the Customer Claim Form, the Customer does not waive the rights under the Bankruptcy Code or SIPA and any rules thereunder.

In executing and filing this claim, the Customer does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the purpose other than with respect to this claim against LBI and does not waive or release: (a) rights and remedies against the other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of the Claims set forth herein, whether an affiliate or subsidiary of LBI, an assignee, guarantor or otherwise, (b) the obligation owed to it, or the right to the security that may be determined to be held by the one of them or for its or their benefit, (c) the past, present or future defaults (or events of default) by LBI or others, or (d) the right to the subordination, in favor of the Customer, of indebtedness or liens held by other creditors of LBI. Dear Claimant:

PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY

The liquidation of the business of Lehman Brothers Inc. ("LBI") is being conducted by James W. Giddens, Trustee (the "Trustee") under the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970, as amended ("SIPA") pursuant to an order entered on September 19, 2008 by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. You have submitted the above-referenced claim(s) (the "Claim") as a customer claim in this proceeding. This Notice is applicable only to the claim(s) and/or accounts identified above. If you filed other claims, additional notices will be issued.

The Trustee has made the following determination regarding your Claim:

Your claim for customer treatment of cash and/or securities under the SIPA is DENIED. The cash and/or securities that you claimed are not customer property pursuant to SIPA. As such, your claim is not entitled to treatment as a customer claim eligible to share from the fund of customer property or SIPA cash advances.

Although the Trustee has denied your claim for customer treatment under SIPA, he is converting your claim to a general creditor claim on the Debtor's estate, similar to a claim in an ordinary bankruptcy case. No determination is being made as to the validity or allowed amount of the claim at this time. After the determination of customer claims, the Trustee will address all general creditor claims and you will receive a further notification as to the Trustee's determination of your general creditor claim.

With respect to the determination of your claim as a general creditor claim, you do not need to take any further action at this time. The Trustee will send you a further notification once he has made a determination of your claim as a general creditor claim.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE: If you disagree with the determination that your claim is Denied as a customer claim and desire a hearing before Bankruptcy Judge James M. Peck, you MUST file your written opposition, setting forth (i) the claim number; (ii) a detailed statement of the reasons for your objection to the Trustee's determination; (iii) copies of any document or other writing upon which you rely; and (iv) mailing, phone, and email contact information, with the United States Bankruptcy Court and the Trustee within THIRTY DAYS of the date of this notice.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE: If you do not properly and timely file a written opposition, the Trustee's determination with respect to your claim will be deemed confirmed by the Court and binding on you.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE: If you properly and timely file a written opposition, a hearing date for this controversy will be obtained by the Trustee and you will be notified of that hearing date. Your failure to appear personally or through counsel at such hearing will result in the Trustee's determination with respect to your claim being confirmed by the Court and binding on you.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE: You must file your opposition in accordance with the above procedure electronically with the Court on the docket of In re Lehman Brothers Inc., Case No. 08-01420 (JMP) SIPA in accordance with General Order M-242 (available at www.nysb.uscourts.gov/orders/orders2.html) by registered users of the Court's case filing system and by all other parties in interest on a 3.5 inch disk, preferably in Portable Document Format (PDF), Microsoft Word or any other Windows-based word processing format.

If you do not have means to file your opposition electronically, you may mail your opposition to:
